RISE Innovation Interview With Sal Peer Featuring Keith Koo

Keith is a Founder and Managing Partner of Guardian Insight Group, a Technology Risk advisory services firm dedicated to identifying, assessing, controlling, and mitigating the risks associated with doing business with technology companies and vendors such as financial, blockchain, pricing/cost, cyber, information security, business resiliency, disaster recovery, regulatory and compliance. Keith also serves as a mentor and advisor to several companies, technology startups, and incubators.

The man that walked the path is the man that can recall it.”

Said Sal Peer, CEO of AI Exosphere.

Before starting Guardian Insight Group, Keith was the Managing Director and Head of the Third-Party Risk Management program for the Mitsubishi Financial Group (MUFG). He was responsible for ensuring that the Bank had the proper framework, policies, and controls to meet regulatory standards for effective oversight of third parties/vendors.

Previously he held Senior Leadership roles at Cisco Systems, Hewlett Packard, and other technology and financial service companies in Mergers and Acquisitions, Divestitures, Technology, and Risk Management.

Keith holds a B.A. in Organizational Behavior from the University of California and advanced certifications from Stanford, California, and George Washington Universities.

So tune in to get informed, download some knowledge, and get inspired to innovate. The possibilities are endless.

The episode airs on AI Exosphere's YouTube Channel on October 11th, 2021, at 9:00 am EST. It is entertaining and full of valuable insights, ethical questions, and creative inspiration from a true Silicon Valley Insider.

"The man that walked the path is the man that can recall it," said Sal Peer, CEO of AI Exosphere.

It would seem Sal has more episodes in mind which will be hosted on the AI Exosphere YouTube channel and become available to the RISE Innovation community.
