Heart disease is the number 1 killer worldwide, and stroke ranks second globally. The American Heart Association (AHA) focuses on the cutting-edge of research, science, technology, and more. The AHA has invested more than $4.8 billion in research, making them the largest not-for-profit funding source for cardiovascular and cerebrovascular disease research next to the federal government. In more than 150 communities across the country, Heart of Tampa Bay and Heart Ball supporters unite with a shared purpose to raise the critical funds needed to ensure the work continues.

Sponsorship of the Tampa Bay Heart Ball is funded through Stonehill's 1% for the Community Program. Stonehill currently donates 1% of its overall revenue to community causes that make a healthier, smarter, and cleaner future for our community. Doug Pace, CEO of Stonehill, has a personal connection with the American Heart Association as he survived a stroke in 2016. Mr. Pace currently serves as an Executive Leader on the American Heart Association Heart Ball.

“As a stroke survivor, I am honored to sponsor the Tampa Bay Heart Ball,” said Doug Pace, CEO of Stonehill. “It is very important to me to support the American Heart Association Heart Ball so they can continue their amazing work improving the quality of life of those suffering from cardiovascular diseases and strokes.”
