Mobile Edge Raises Breast Cancer Awareness To Boost Early Detection

Promoting awareness and supporting breast cancer causes is one small way we can do our part as an organization to hopefully boost the rate of early diagnosis.”

Paul June, VP of Marketing

“Mobile Edge is committed to giving back to the communities it serves. That includes the fight against breast cancer and boosting awareness of how important early detection is,” says Paul June, VP of Marketing for Anaheim-based Mobile Edge. “Over the years, we’ve supported the Breast Cancer Awareness through donations to the tune of more than $400,000.”

Here in the United States, the National Breast Cancer Foundation estimates that one in eight women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime.

“Studies show that when breast cancer is detected early at a localized stage, the 5-year survival rate is 99%,” explains June. “Promoting awareness and supporting breast cancer causes is one small way we can do our part as an organization to hopefully boost the rate of early diagnosis.”
