

@FastFoodLegend by Sam Pocker Tastes 15 Million TikTok Views in First 90 Days

Heart-attack hilarity ensues as @FastFoodLegend celebrates the comedy of consumerism through happy meal homages.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES , October 5, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Food for Thought.

The entire premise of @FastFoodLegend was to take a piece of fast food, unwrap it, and pour as many condiments over it as possible, but it's turned into so much more."

In three short years, TikTok has grown from an app that showcases dancing teenagers into a cultural powerhouse, driving music, food, news, and political trends changing how people communicate online.

Though brands have broadened their footprint, the TikTok influencer economy is growing briskly. One account that's thinking outside the bun is @FastFoodLegend, the work of the artist Sam Pocker which has become a sensational skyrocket, celebrating 15 million views on TikTok in its first 90 days.

The premise is simple.

In a parallel universe where everything's created from fast food, @FastFoodLegend features satirical fast food hacks, low-quality puppetry using actual fast food items, creations of sculptures using fast food items, and other vibrant viral videos which appear on TikTok - the video-making app that allows users to create short sensations.

Funny food becomes a cultural canvas cooking up the relationship between over-the-counter convenience and pop culture comedy.

Highlights include:

McDonald's Big Mac Video (4.7 million views).
