

Paragon ISG Environmental Services Cleans New Philadelphia Lagoon

Growing client base and service offerings in a complimentary market

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, USA,
October 6, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ --
Earlier this week, Paragon ISG launched their latest Environmental Services campaign to clean the stormwater retention lagoon in New Philadelphia, Ohio.

The lagoon was last cleaned over a decade ago and has built up nearly 2 feet of sludge that requires remediation. Before hiring Paragon ISG, prior remediation jobs have involved draining the entire lagoon, removing all wildlife, and manually excavating sludge buildup with heavy earthmoving equipment. Now with help from Paragon ISG, the lagoon may be cleaned while still in operation, with less equipment and less disruption to the surrounding area.

This is the latest job for the Environmental Services group at Paragon ISG, who have previously completed projects for industrial and government clients in Pennsylvania and North Carolina. By utilizing deep expertise and equipment from the energy industry, Paragon ISG is able to provide services to clients in the growing environmental services market.
