EGLA CORP funds and supports the EGLAVATOR and provides support to startups in multiple ways. Currently, our team focuses on fintech, cloud computing, wireless communications, and artificial intelligence. Our team of innovators assists startups with technical expertise, investments, and provides a community for all innovators at our office space.

We want to highlight the following milestones from our members:

POINTSKASH, Inc a financial technology company with an innovative platform that allows credit card owners convert reward points into cash. Pointskash makes those loyalty points work for the consumer in the most convenient way. The platform also comes with other exciting features that attracted a seed-funding found from SeaBury Capital. “We are visualizing a 2022 full of new developments and exponential growth and helping our customers to easily convert those reward points into cash," said Steve Janjic, CEO and founder. EGLA CORP is excited to be a shareholder and assisting a very exciting fintech venture.

CONDUCTION LABS, Inc is a local leader in Bluetooth technologies and headset manufacturer. The team launched a truly wireless headset product, called "Etude" in a joint venture with ALOVA. As part of the launch, a Kickstarter campaign became the vehicle to raise close to $40,000 after just a few weeks. The team is now preparing new product launches in other sites like IndieGogo. "This is just the beginning, and our team is planning our technology roadmaps with more Bluetooth and wireless products" -- Bruce Borenstein said
