Miller recently published “Master Mentors: 30 Transformative Insights From Our Greatest Minds.” The book offers easily digestible and actionable recommendations distilled from interviews Miller conducted for his “On Leadership” program.

“Every week I have the opportunity to sit with some of the brightest, most creative, disciplined, and driven people you can imagine and pick their brains for the better part of an hour,” Miller writes in the introduction to “Master Mentors.”

Miller notes that his program is both the largest and fastest-growing leadership podcast on the planet, reaching between six and seven million people weekly.

On Monday Morning Radio, Miller tells Rotbart that his goal is to “help people who are ready to change their mindsets, their belief systems, their paradigms. When you change your mindset, you change your behaviors. When you change your behaviors, you change your results.”

Among the 30 Mentors who Miller showcases in his book are:

Daniel Pink — author of Drive: The Surprising Truth About What Motivates Us and When: The Scientific Secrets of Perfect Timing

Seth Godin — blogger, entrepreneur, and author of 20 best-selling books, including Tribes

Susan Cain — author of “Quiet: The Power of Introverts in a World That Can’t Stop Talking.”

Dorie Clark — named one of the top 50 business thinkers in the world and author of Stand Out, which was named the #1 Leadership Book of the Year by Inc. magazine.

On Monday Morning Radio, Miller describes some of the characteristics that his “Master Mentors” have in common. Among them, he tells Rotbart, “is that they have an abundance mentality. They don’t have a scarce mindset.” Miller adds that “their mission, their reputation, their legacy is to give back and to help others and to share their successes or failures.”

Above everything, Miller says his “Master Mentors” have an indefatigable desire to succeed. “Good old-fashioned hard work still has a marketable place in success,” Miller explains. “It’s a theme that I see across these people.”

Monday Morning Radio is produced and hosted by Rotbart, a Pulitzer Prize-nominated former reporter with The Wall Street Journal. He is the author of “September Twelfth: An American
