GCC Cigarette Lighter Industry Trends and Drivers:

With the growing smoking rates in the GCC region, along with inflating disposable incomes of consumers, there has been a rise in the demand for cigarette lighters. As a result, numerous manufacturers are coming up with a wide range of product variants, such as flint and automobile lighters, to enhance their profitability while also providing consumers with various options. They have also introduced electronic, battery-powered lighters that generate a flame at the push of a button, which is propelling the market growth.

In addition to this, the implementation of different rules and regulations is ensuring that the final products available to the consumers will offer reliable performance and are safe. This, in turn, will continue to augment the GCC cigarette lighter market in the coming years.
