U.S. Patient Monitoring Systems Market by Component (Device, Service, and Connectivity Technology): Opportunity Analysis and Industry Forecast, 2020–2027”
Allied Market Research

The U.S. patient monitoring systems market has witnessed exceptional growth in the past few years. The rise in incidences of patients suffering from various lifestyle diseases such as obesity, chronic liver diseases, and stroke have contributed toward the patient monitoring systems market growth. The market is expected to grow at a moderate pace during the forecast period. In addition, the introduction of breakthrough patient monitoring devices is expected to further fuel the growth of the market. The patient monitoring systems market growth mainly relies on an increase in the geriatric population and the rise in the adoption of remote patient monitoring devices.
