Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the global argan oil market to exhibit moderate growth during the next five years.

SHERIDAN, WYOMING, UNITED STATES, October 18, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- According to IMARC Group's latest report, titled "Argan Oil Market: Global Industry Trends, Share, Size, Growth, Opportunity and Forecast 2021-2026", The global argan oil market grew at a CAGR of around 11% during 2015-2020. Argan oil comprises fatty acids, vitamin A and E, antioxidants, and a variety of phenolic compounds. Its consumption assists in reducing the growth of cancer cells and preventing diabetes. It also aids in treating acne, stretch marks, skin irritation, and signs of aging. Consequently, it is extensively utilized in the production of personal care products across the globe.

There is a considerable rise in the utilization of argan oil in the manufacturing of several baked products and frozen desserts. This represents one of the key factors propelling the market growth. Apart from this, it is increasingly being used to produce medicines for skin-related and other medical conditions. This can be attributed to its anti-inflammatory, antioxidant, anti-proliferative, and analgesic properties. Furthermore, leading market players are using recyclable containers for the packaging of argan oil. This, coupled with the growing popularity of aromatherapy, is driving the market worldwide. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the global argan oil market to exhibit moderate growth during the next five years.
