BREA, CA, UNITED STATES, October 19, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- B-Tech AV Mounts is excited to announce two new distribution partnerships in North America that will serve the commercial AV channel. Almo Pro AV will become the exclusive stocking distributor for the United States and TD SYNEX will be the exclusive stocking distributor for Canada. Since starting in London in 1972, B-Tech AV Mounts has been responsible for engineering and manufacturing globally awarded mounting solutions that have been used for some of the most notable AV projects in the world.

Almo Pro AV is recognized as one of the most successful distributors in the United States and their emphasis on commercial AV products is unmatched. TD SYNEX is a proven leader for IT solution distribution within the Canadian market for commercial AV equipment. "Our main focus was giving customers a seamless experience when purchasing all the components of their AV projects. Almo and TD Synnex have proven to be reliable leaders in serving AV customers and B-Tech solutions are equipped to meet the demands of their customers."

Both Almo and TD Synnex will stock a range of mounting solutions for many different display types, most notably for large, multi-room rollouts and large LCD video wall projects that can be architecturally integrated.
