

Moneybaggs Mentorship becomes the first small business mentoring hub to help small business owners build business credit

Membership payments will be reported to business credit bureaus to build small business credit scores to open the door to future financing

FREDERICKSBURG, VIRGINIA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, October 20, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Moneybaggs Mentorship is proud to offer small business owners the opportunity to learn how to structure and scale a successful business while building business credit to make future growth possible. For the first time, Moneybaggs Mentorship will help small businesses establish strong business credit scores by simply making regular membership payments to the organization.

Moneybaggs Mentorship is the first business mentoring program of its kind to report members' payments to credit bureaus in order to build their business credit histories. The program supports new and existing businesses as they grow and scale while building positive credit scores with every monthly membership payment to Moneybaggs Mentoring.

"Having a solid business credit profile help business owners secure more desirable loan terms, qualify for better premiums and negotiate with vendors," says Latasha Brooks, founder of MoneyBaggs Mentorship.

Moneybaggs Mentoring can effectively supplement any business training program while helping small businesses establish a robust business credit history that gives entrepreneurs an extra leg up when they're ready to pursue future growth opportunities.

Business credit is often overlooked or misunderstood by small business owners. A recent survey of small business owners found that 45% of small business owners didn't know they had a business credit score and 82% didn't know how to interpret their credit scores, according to The American Dream Gap Report.
