

Trade Finance Market Size | Global Industry Research on Growth, Share, Trends and Top Companies Analysis to 2027

Increasing worldwide imports and export is the main factor that is expected to increase the trade finance market size during the forecast period.

BANGALORE, INDIA, October 26, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The global Trade Finance market size is projected to reach US$ 10987510 million by 2027, from US$ 7616520 million in 2020, at a CAGR of 5.4% during 2021-2027.

This report focuses on global trade finance market size, future forecasts, growth opportunities, key markets, and key players. The aims of the study are to present the growth of Trade Finance in North America, Europe, China, Japan, Southeast Asia, India, and Central & South America.

Digitization is expected to fuel the growth of trade finance market size. Trade finance procedures necessitate a large volume of physical paper documentation. As a result, document-related costs account for the bulk of Trade Finance costs. Banks' Trade Finance offerings must be adaptable, flexible, low-cost, and add value to their customers in order to succeed. Through digitization, banks are automating financial and transactional information exchange through pilot projects in smart contracts.

Based on type, the Supply Chain Finance segment is expected to witness the highest growth.

As Covid-19 tightened corporate liquidity, the Supply Chain Finance (SCF) programs were on the rise. However, questions were raised about the disclosure regulations of such systems, as well as the actions of corporate buyers and SCF providers.

Trade Finance Market Size, Share, Trends, Global Report 2027

Based on Region, LAMEA and North America jointly accounted for higher revenues.

In terms of revenue, the LAMEA region dominated the trade finance sector in 2018 and is expected to retain its dominance during the forecast period, due to higher oil production and large-scale exports, and agency finance services. Moreover, the U.S. export and agency funding strengthens export opportunities by engaging in large-scale project planning activities and developing sustainable infrastructure that contributes to regional economic development.
