Wondering what to wear or how to win the Best Hat Contest? Need expert advice from a professional event planner on how to perfect your al fresco table and bar setup? Looking for recipes that are both easy and elegant? Wine & Country Life has you covered. There is even a beautiful new “Wine & Country Guest Guide” designed with watercolors to download from the website.

From fabulous fashions, equestrian table décor and horse race etiquette to food and bar recipes sure to be crowd pleasers, the Wine & Country Tailgate Guides are full of insider tips to help everyone make the most of the steeplechase, no matter whether you are attending the popular International Gold Cup, Montpelier Hunt Races, the Foxfield Races or a different equestrian event. Partners like Chloe's of Middleburg make choosing the ideal outfit for the occasion simple while the Wine & Country team make throwing the perfect equestrian party easy with inspiring photography, recipes, expert host tips and a finely curated selection of equestrian inspired décor, tableware and accessories (including Dubarry boots) in their Charlottesville-based Wine & Country Shop.

Robin Bethke, Wine & Country's Creative Director, enthuses about the atmosphere. "It's always been about the luxurious food, fashion and race day set up for me. As an attendee for many years, one of my favorite tips for setting the stage is to incorporate a spectacular vintage item into the décor. The leather of a well worn saddle or the patina of your grandmother's silver adds depth."

"Each fall, we see friends that we don't get to connect with through the year, so it is like a homecoming reunion. It is wonderful to spend the day outdoors enjoying the excitement of the races with them and, of course, all the delicious foods, oh which my favorite is Virginia ham biscuits. It is delicious and easy for dining al fresco," adds Editor-in-Chief, Jennifer Bryerton.
