SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, October 21, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Most experienced developers have seen many frameworks come and go in their lifetime. Very few stick on to become legendary. So there is always inertia with anything new in general. But Flutter has managed to create quite a flutter!

Just officially released in 2017, it took roughly a couple of years for Flutter to gain more popularity than React Native on both GitHub and Stack Overflow. Back in 2015 when there was no

Flutter, there was a so-called browser war. Developers of Chrome were brainstorming on about how to optimize their browser. This led to the team deciding to cut CSS out of the browser engine — which showed a very big increase in performance. Realizing that this was game changing, a software development kit was developed which we call Flutter now.
