

In-Vitro Fertilization Market Growth, Global Survey, Analysis, Share, Company Profiles and Forecast by 2028

Increase in incidence of male and female infertility and growing number of women in workforce are some key factors driving market revenue growth.

VANCOUVER, BC, CANADA, October 26, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The latest market intelligence report, titled 'Global In-Vitro Fertilization Market', is intended to provide the target audience with the necessary information about the global In-Vitro Fertilization industry. In vitro fertilization market revenue growth is due to rising infertility incidence, attributable to adoption of sedentary lifestyle and related conditions and diseases.

Behavioral changes among the global population along with increasing number of women in the workforce, late pregnancy, shift from rural to urban communities, reducing marriage rates, and rise in trend of same sex marriages are other key factors fueling growth of the market According to the American Society for Reproductive Medicine (ASRM), approximately 6.7 million people in the U.S. are impacted by failure to get pregnant, which accounts for around 11.0% of the pregnant population. Besides, 25% of people in the U.S. have more than one infertility cause. Researchers have also developed methods that are used beforehand to improve the effective rate of in-vitro fertilization.
