

Orolia to Exhibit New-Gen Emergency Locator Beacons Solutions at Aerospace Tech Week 2021

World's Leading Aerospace Companies to Attend Annual Gathering

GUIDEL, FRANCE, October 28, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Orolia, the world leader in resilient positioning, navigation and timing (R-PNT), will be exhibiting at Aerospace Tech Week 2021, the annual gathering of the world's leading aerospace companies in Toulouse, France November 3-4.

Orolia will introduce its new Aviation Partner Portal, an online platform allowing aircraft operators and aftermarket partners to access all technical documentation and to request training related to Orolia's beacons solutions.

The new platform will include documentation for Ultima-DT and Ultima-S, Orolia's advanced Emergency Location Transmitters (ELT) that are compliant with the latest safety regulations including:

- Special conditions impacting non-rechargeable lithium batteries
- GADSS – Autonomous Distress Tracking: mandated to all commercial aircraft by ICAO from January 2023.
- Acknowledgment of distress message via Return Link Service (RLS) by Galileo available on the Ultima-S

The Ultima Line from Orolia will be displayed as well on the company's booth during the event.
