"For example when looking for lawn mowers we recommend our readers consider factors like dimensions (especially height), weight capacity if they have young kids who'd play around while mowing or if there's any slope on the yard where they want to use it etc," said Zulkifal

"We have done research on various outdoor appliances and came up with a list that contains only best products because we thought these were best ones according to our test criteria," says Zulkifal.

"We update our website daily and try to review different types of products every month. We also sell all of the reviewed products on our website and we make a profit from them."

He says this is how he makes his living as he considers it an investment since he has been doing it for over six years now.
