Human identification is defined as the study of biometric detection and training of the datasets to analyze the sample for forensic application. This method is used by investigational authorities for identification of criminal and overall analytics of human traits. The human identification system consists of human traits such as facial, finger pins, lips, palm, iris, and tongue for DNA analysis. The capillary electrophoresis (CE) and massively parallel sequencing (MPS) are the most widely used method for human identification in paternity testing laboratories and forensic labs.

Covid-19 Scenario:

- 1) The Covid-19 pandemic and followed by lockdown has affected several manufacturing industries.
- 2) The prolonged lockdown resulted in a disrupted supply chain and increased the prices of raw materials.
- 3) However, as the world has been recovering from the pandemic, the market is estimated to get back on track.
