The colour index number segment is divided into Acid Orange 3, Acid Orange 74, Acid Orange 80, Acid Orange 24, Acid Orange 67, Acid Orange 7, Acid Orange 10, Acid Orange 86 and others. As of 2020, Acid Orange 7 is the leading colour index number segment of the global acid orange with a market value of USD 27.85 Million. The increase in awareness and knowledge among people about the advantage of acid orange 7 has led to the increasing use of acid orange in personal care and cosmetic products. It is also used as a coloring agent in cosmetic and personal care products. They are also having high demand among textile and cosmetic products manufacturers all across the world as a source of colouring agent. The solubility segment includes soluble in water and insoluble in ethanol. The soluble in water segment held the highest market share of 64.84% in 2020. This is because acid orange shows better lightfastness properties than other basic dyes. This contains the sulphonic acid groups, which increases its solubility in water. The packaging segment includes HDPE bags, HDPE drums and Carton boxes. HDPE drums are accounted for the highest market value of USD 71.73 Million in 2020. It is anticipated to have a significant CAGR during the forecast period.

The end-user segment includes cosmetics, hair dying agents, inks, textiles, medical, food & beverages and others. The textile segment held the highest market share of 62.18% in 2020. This is due to the fact that acid orange are broadly used by the textile industry to give various colours to the textile fibers like wool, silk, nylon etc. Acid orange also shows better lightfastness properties than the other basic dyes. That's why it is more in demand by the textile industry and is expected to be in high demand in the forecasting period.
