MILLEDGEVILLE, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES, November 3, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- NewDay USA, a leading national mortgage lender serving veteran families, announced today the groundbreaking of the NewDay USA Center for Leadership at the Georgia Military College (GMC). NewDay USA is the primary donor of the $11 million project. The center will house the NewDay USA Leadership Speaker Series and GMC Prep's performing arts department and concert series.

"The NewDay USA Center for Leadership will become recognized as a place where world-class leaders from public service, the military, business, sports, and the arts come together to share their experiences and ideas on leadership," said NewDay USA Founder and CEO Rob Posner. The center will also feature the School for Ethics and Servant Leadership—a collaborative effort between NewDay USA and Georgia Military College. NewDay USA also announced today that it is establishing the NewDay USA Scholarship for Opportunity and Leadership, which will provide tuition and fees to attend GMC Prep for 50 gifted minority students from Milledgeville and the surrounding areas.

"My 32 years in the Navy and 10 years as a business leader before joining NewDay have helped form my belief that any organization's success, whether it be a ship, business, sports team, or community, is based almost exclusively on its leadership," said NewDay USA Executive Chairman Rear Admiral Thomas Lynch (USN, Ret.).

Since 2013, NewDay USA has donated over $7 million towards scholarships for veteran children. NewDay USA has partnered with GMC Prep on various philanthropic activities since 2016. NewDay USA has awarded 74 scholarships covering 100 percent of school tuition for students through the NewDay USA Allan B. Posner scholarship, including 35 scholarships for GMC Prep School students. The NewDay USA scholarship is awarded to sons and daughters of Gold Star families, veterans who are 100 percent service-related disabled, and those that have served and been impacted by the Global War on Terror.

Georgia Military College (GMC) is an accredited public-independent liberal arts college with multiple community college campuses throughout the state of Georgia, a Global Online College, and a main campus in Milledgeville serving both residential cadets and non-cadet/non-residential commuter students and intercollegiate athletes.
