DENHAM SPRINGS, LOUISIANA, UNITED STATES, November 8, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Way Church of Denham Springs has announced that they have launched a new website to serve their community better.

Their new website was redeveloped by BlakSheep Creative, a digital marketing agency located in Denham Springs specializing in churches and small businesses.

The company's goal is to create easy access for people to learn what is happening at the church and how they can get involved with ministries and events.

This newly redesigned website features an events calendar and locations of their house churches for people to join.

David Annison, the Associate Pastor at The Way Church of Denham Springs, said, "We believe having a website will help people learn about the things going on at The Way. We also wanted to make it easier for visitors and new members to find out where we are from our website rather than searching all over social media."

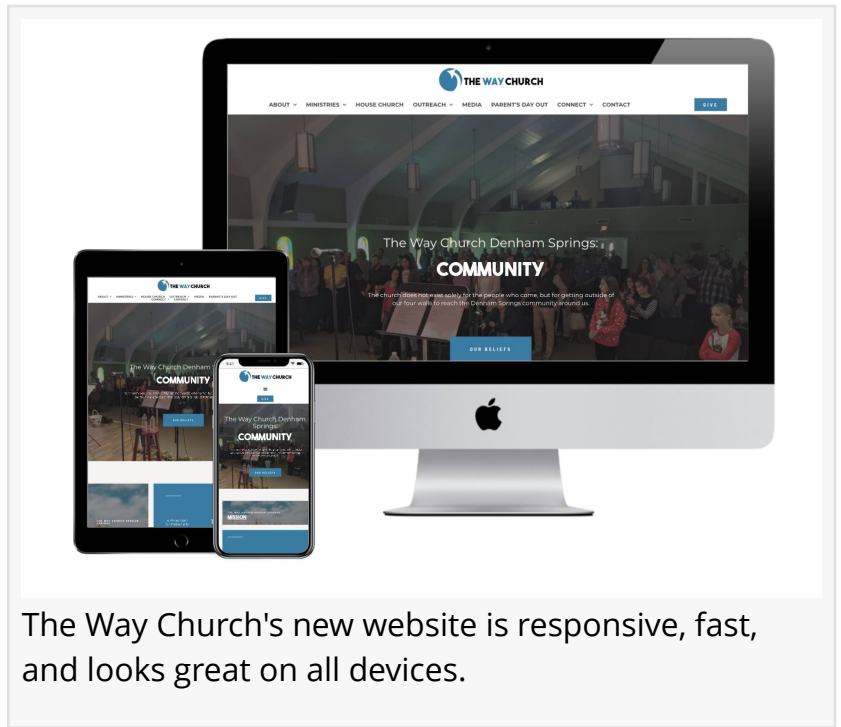

"The new website design allows us to engage in our community more closely," said Annison. "We are grateful to be working with such an amazing organization as BlakSheep Creative."
