-- In support of Veteran's Day and service members across the metroplex, Avondale Group, North Texas' leading retailer of luxury performance automobiles, assembled and delivered 'Welcome Home' care packages to over 300 soldiers returning from their tour of duty overseas. Avondale's SPIRIT of Community initiative is an ongoing effort to support the local community.

Avondale teamed up with Operation Once in a Lifetime, a nonprofit organization that provides assistance and support to U.S Service Members, Honorable Discharged Veterans, and their families.

Avondale Group takes great pride in their Spirit of Community initiatives which allows team members to work together to elevate the Dallas-Fort Worth area through donations and volunteerism. Organizations like Operation Once in a Lifetime, Santa Cops, and other first responder initiatives throughout North Texas are near and dear to their heart. Neil Grossman, Avondale's CEO, and Hesham Elgaghil, President, also joined as they loaded over 300 care packages for the soldiers in Fort Hood.

"We feel it is our duty to help the community and this effort was a meaningful way to provide supplies to our returning heroes that protect our lives and liberties with their service," said Liz Shafon, Communications & Experiential Marketing Director. "We have many veterans and reserve military members which makes this project even more important and rewarding for our team."

Operation Once in a Lifetime's mission is to make the dreams of U.S Service Members, Honorable Discharged Veterans, and their families come true. The nonprofit recognizes the importance of practical wishes and identifies any request from the military, both active duty and Veterans by providing any assistance from stocking home shelves with groceries to providing essentials for children to helping with bills and payments.

Over the last 34 years Avondale Group has offered monetary and volunteer support to the greater Dallas-Fort Worth area charities through their group-wide SPIRIT of Community initiatives. Avondale Group's work with Operation Once in a Lifetime is a part of their ongoing commitment of service providing assistance to Dallas, Grapevine, and surrounding communities.
