

Klein Creative Media Launches Crowdfunding Efforts for “FLY GIRLS – THE DOCUMENTARY”

Rare gathering of 5 Female Flight attendants/ Pilots at Long Beach flying Club For “FLY GIRLS – THE DOCUMENTARY”

REDONDO BEACH, CA, USA, November 15, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- This month Klein Creative Media announced the launch of an Indiegogo crowdfunding campaign, to produce “FLY GIRLS – THE DOCUMENTARY”.

This film in progress follows the lives of five female flight attendants as they transition from flight attendants to commercial pilots. Well on their way through pilot training, each woman is in a different stage of her training. They have banded together as a support group of likeminded women to support each other through the grueling five-year process of getting advanced education and accumulating over 2000 hours of flight time. Friday, in a rare gathering, all five women met in Long Beach at 11:30am in support of Sheena’s Multi-engine check out flight, and for a photo opportunity with a local Newspaper, and video coverage for the documentary.

“We are like aviation’s five musketeers,” says Meghan Kojima, flight attendant, pilot and co-star. “We are supporting each other unconditionally and rooting for each other. The other person being successful isn’t going to make us unsuccessful, and I think that’s important for us to remember especially as women.” Jenny Phillips, co-star, flight attendant and pilot.

With a future shortage of commercial pilots threatening our country by 2023, if we don’t promote aviation as a viable career for all genders, our ability to travel could be significantly impacted. Currently only 6.9% of the commercial pilots in America today are women. Watching their journey will inspire and empower the next generation of female pilots.

Indiegogo campaign is live now and accepting backers until Nov 19th.
