COVID-19 scenario: The outbreak of COVID-19 has hugely affected the global burn care industry.

- Dearth of materials or finished goods coming from logistical hubs in impacted areas has impacted the supply chain, which hampered the market sale.
- Labor shortage due to illness or mobility restriction and shutdown in various countries have negatively impacted the production, which hindered the market growth.

The report offers a detailed segmentation of the global burn care market based on product, depth of burn, end-user and region.

Based on product, the advanced burn care segment contributed to the largest share in 2019, accounting for more than two-fifth of the total share, and is estimated to maintain its dominant position during the forecast period. In addition, it is also estimated to portray the highest CAGR of 6.4% during the forecast period.

Based on end-user, the hospital segment accounted for the largest share in 2019, holding more than two-fifths of the total share, and is expected to maintain the largest share throughout the forecast period. However, the home care segment is expected to register the highest CAGR of 6.8% from 2020 to 2027.

Based on region, North America contributed to the highest share, accounting for around two-fifth of the total market share in 2019, and will maintain its dominance throughout the forecast period. However, Asia-Pacific is expected to grow at the highest CAGR of 7.5% from 2020 to 2027.
