EINPresswire.com/ -- Market
Overview:

According to IMARC Group, the global electric vehicle market share reached a volume of 2.45 Million Units in 2020.

Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to grow at a CAGR of around 47% during 2021-2026. Rapid urbanization, increasing per capita income, growing environmental concerns, and extensive research and development (R&D) activities are positively influencing the demand for electronic vehicles (EVs). The top EV companies are developing zero- and low-emission vehicles with improved fuel efficiency and a strong, soundless engine. They are also investing in improving the charging infrastructure to reduce the dependence on other forms of fuel. This makes EVs more economical to operate, thereby assisting automobile brands in expanding their portfolio.

We are regularly tracking the direct effect of COVID-19 on the market, along with the indirect influence of associated industries. These observations will be integrated into the report.
