The network-wide SON project reduced dropped-call rates by 10-15% in GSM and UMTS networks alongside 10% Mobility and other LTE improvements nationwide. Innovile's SON was deployed as a centralized solution on top of the vendor-provided network optimization components already in use.

With this rapid proof of success, Kyivstar trusts Innovile's SON solution to continue to automate network improvements, reducing operating costs and keeping customers happy.”

and Director of R&D*

Ahmet Ozturk, Co-founder and Director of R&D at Innovile: “We are very happy to finalize the project in such a short time and with immediate results. Like many leading networks, Kyivstar has a multi-vendor and technology network architecture and so Innovile's vendor-agnostic SON solution is a good fit.

again.”
