Lead generation is a mindset where, you are working either with third-party vendors or partnerships on driving traffic or calls for that matter, on a per performance basis.”

Michael Ferree

What makes the difference between irresponsible spending on massive budgets and the wise investment of a reasonable marketing budget? The simple answer is: lead generation.

He is an industry connoisseur, leading two major events in the contact center space - Lead Generation World and Contact.io. Beyond this, his expertise and connections in the lead gen space make him THE person to talk to regarding this much-debated and controversial topic.
