HRdownloads becomes a certified living wage employer

"At HRdownloads, loving what you do is fundamental to our purpose, and we take deliberate action to ensure that as we build internal programs, we foster an environment where employees can say they truly love what they do. We value our people and truly consider everyone as our HRdownloads family. Being living wage certified was an important part of our commitment to our people and ensuring that all employees could comfortably live within their community. In addition, we wanted employees to know that this is an ongoing commitment. As the cost of living increases we will ensure a living wage," says Sharon Bunce, Chief of Staff at HRdownloads.

"Loving what you do and fostering a culture where all employees can love what they do means that as a company we are providing each individual with the supports they need to be successful at work and within their personal life. It is more than just ensuring interesting work; it is about providing complete support that includes wages, benefits, employee assistance programs, wellness days, sick time, paid gym memberships, professional/career development, flexible work options, community involvement, weekly organizational meetings, and engagement activities. We are proud of the HRdownloads family. The work that our teams do to support Canadian businesses coast to coast is simply amazing. Becoming living wage certified was simply the right thing to do," says Bunce.

HRdownloads has been a leading provider of Canadian HR solutions and support for over a decade. Having a talented, dedicated, and engaged team has been a significant reason for their continuous growth. This certification is a reflection of the commitment HRdownloads has to their employees' wellbeing.
