PreemploymentDirectory.com is extremely pleased to introduce our new blog - Employment Screening Advice Center- which has three sections:

- Advice for Employers,
- Advice for Background Check Firms and
- Advice for Job Seekers.

An informed job hunter is the best job seeker because they will be more confident in dealing with employers conducting background checks and have less fear about the process.”

W. Barry Nixon

needs.

Our goal is to balance this by sharing information with Job Seekers that:

The banner features a blue background with a circuit-like pattern. At the top, it reads "EMPLOYMENT SCREENING" in white and "ADVICE CENTER" in large green letters. Below this, a white box contains the text "Expert Insights on Employment Screening for Employers, Job Seekers and Background Screening Firms". At the bottom, the words "SUPPORT", "HIRING", and "ADVICE" are written in white. To the left is a smartphone icon, and to the right are icons of people and a magnifying glass. Below the banner, the text "Employment Screening Advice Center" is displayed. To the left is a "Stop Bad Hires" logo, and to the right is the "PREEMPLOYMENTDIRECTORY.COM" logo with the tagline "We Connect You to Business." Below the logo is the text "company logo".

These three focus areas encompass many of the main components of the background checking industry's supply chain and each will benefit from us providing ongoing information and answers to key questions about background checks from industry experts.

The focus of this announcement is on the - Advice for Job Seekers. We believe that job seeker are the catalyst for a background check to occur and that too often the emphasis of information shared about the background checks focuses on Employers and Background check firms'

- Increases their knowledge and understanding of the background check process,
- Answers key questions they have about background checks,
- Helps them to navigate the background check process as they experience it with the goal to make their job search a bit easier.

W. Barry Nixon, COO, PreemploymentDirectory.com, a recognized background screening expert and thought leader said, "An informed job hunter is the best job seeker because they will be more confident in dealing with employers conducting background checks and have less fear about the process. It is also likely that a lot of the tension that oftentimes exists between job seekers and background screening firms will be reduced as job seekers gain more understanding about the background check process and become more comfortable with it."

Members of the press and other media outlets are invited to post information about the Employment Screening Advice Center to your Careers, Jobs and Job Hunting sections or mention in a story targeting job seekers to help job seekers to learn more about the background screening process they will be involved in while hunting for a job.
