Understanding Stabila

Stabila uses the features of the blockchain and peer-to-peer (P2P) network technology to eliminate the middleman and allow fintech businesses to sell their products directly to consumers. Software developers use the Solidity programming language to create apps that are hosted on the Stabila platform.

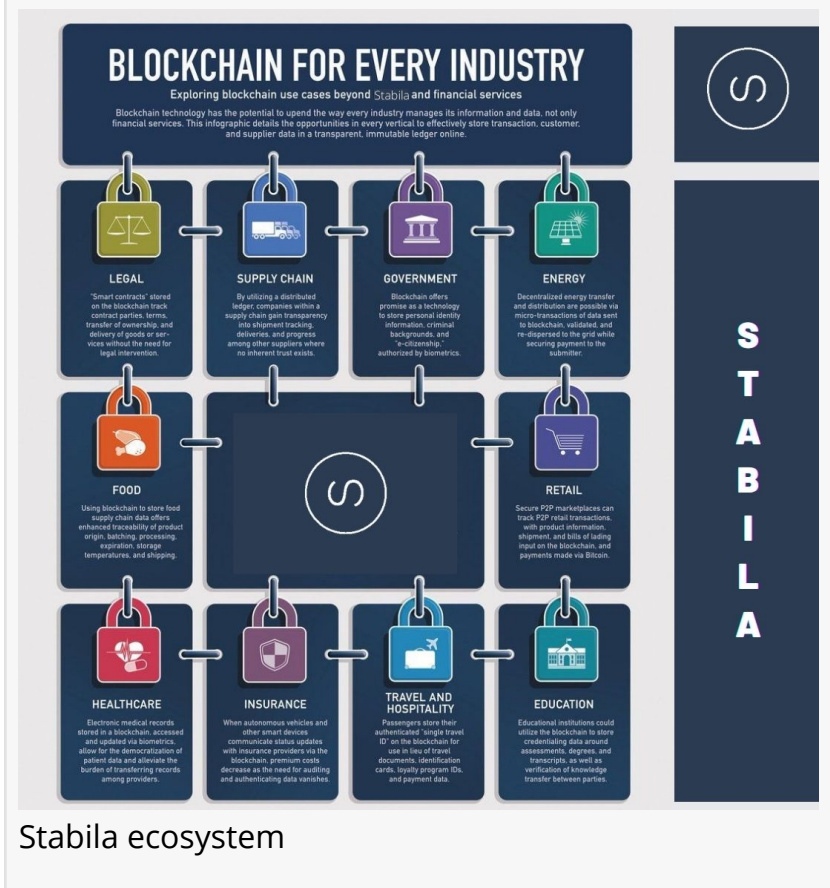

The currency used on the network is Stabila or STB. Users of the network use STB to directly pay for products or services and access their applications. Users can store their crypto-assets in a desktop, mobile, or hardware wallet. StabilaClick is the official name of Stabila IOS/Android wallet that, according to their website newsletter, is due to be deployed in production by the end of 2021.

Stabila and the Ethereum Blockchain

The Stabila network structure has been compared to that of the Tron and Ethereum platform, and it uses some of the same basic building blocks, such as decentralized applications (dApps), smart contracts, and tokens.

However, Stabila Total Supply is limited to 30M that makes the platform similar to the Bitcoin protocol. That could be another sign that crypto traders are increasingly turning to blockchains that provide cheaper transaction fees with faster speed than what's found on Ethereum and more functionality than Bitcoin has.

On Nov. 24, 2021 (genesis block time), the STB price was $1.00. Compared to the Bitcoin price of $58,000, the Stabila position is highly undervalued.

The Potential of Stabila

Stabila was created as a direct challenge to the transaction industry, including the web-based giants like ETH and Bitcoin. Its slogan is "Decentralize the Financial System" and it aims to make easier the process of brokerage, exchange, transactions, and trade.

Beyond the current cryptocurrency boom, surely its future success depends at least in part on the quality of the programming it brings to its users.

"Digital transformation lets the world reimagine itself – and Moneta is happy to be among the changemakers by enabling customer-centric services and lasting relationships “, Moneta Holdings CEO Daniel Varzari.
