About Pedors Shoes

Pedors Shoes is an orthopedic shoe company that launched in 1997 after two years research and development in a collaborative effort with the Pedorthic and Orthotic community. The main feature of Pedors Shoes is the upper material which is a proprietary blend of neoprene and a medical grade EVA foam branded Pedoprene™. Pedoprene has a remarkable property of not only providing a four way stretch functionality but can also be heat-molded if necessary. The material has the added benefit of providing some compression for swollen feet. Pedors are primarily worn by people suffering from the following conditions; swollen feet, edema, lymphedema, diabetes, arthritis, bunions, hammertoes and other forefoot deformities.
