Big Jerry's Fencing is unique due to its simple estimate process based on their website's Quick Quote tool. The software makes the process and experience more smooth for both the clients and the franchisees. The company provides a variety of fencing styles to both residential and commercial clients, including aluminum, vinyl, chain link, and more.

Momentum has continued to build for the brand since its franchise launch last year. According to Davis, two more prospects are in line to become the next Big Jerry's franchisees before the close of the year. "What we have here is an extremely simple to operate business that is needed in markets across the U.S.," asserted Davis. "I am confident that our brand will grow quickly over the next few months as entrepreneurs learn about the opportunity and see the value in our offering."
