"I am in strongly in favor of vaccines. On the show, I enjoy asking deeply rooted questions of our featured guests, especially doctors, to provide information on the current state of the virus, the vaccines, therapeutics, and real-life stories with people who have contracted and overcome Covid-19. Our knowledgeable guests don't give 30-second soundbite answers; they comprehensively discuss the science behind vaccines, how they work, and future trends we should look for. I created this program to raise awareness of not only the benefits of vaccines but also other areas of biotechnology." said Dean L. Fanelli, Ph.D.

For several years, Dr. Fanelli has been involved in the development, protection, and commercialization of biotech and pharmaceutical products. In addition to Dr. Fanelli's expertise relating to legal issues involved in pharma and biotech development, Dr. Fanelli has co-founded three biotechnology companies: PhosImmune, Inc. an immuno-oncology company, C-Reveal Therapeutics, LLC, an immuno-oncology drug development company focused on exposing tumors to immune responses and therapies, and most recently AexeRNA Therapeutics, LLC, an mRNA company developing advanced Lipid Nanoparticle delivery systems that reduce the side effects present in currently authorized mRNA COVID-19 vaccines.
