This partnership with RWM Home Loans brings NAMMBA closer to their mission of increasing the engagement of women and minorities in the mortgage industry. The mortgage industry is historically homogeneous and NAMMBA hopes that this partnership will be just a small part of the path to changing that.

“We are so excited that RWM Home Loans decided to come on as a partner to create a more diverse mortgage industry,” said NAMMBA Founder/CEO Tony Thompson, CMB. “Cooperation and collaboration are key to bringing more young people, women, and minorities into this industry and which leads to fresher ideas and ways of doing business.”

“RWM Home Loans is dedicated to creating financial literacy and increasing homeownership for underserved communities. Our mission is to guide our clients with a long-term plan for financial success including the path to attaining the dream of homeownership.” Brad Livingston, President of RWM Home Loans said of the partnership. "NAMMBA and its visionary leadership along with its powerful tools will support our mission in promoting a more inclusive industry and home buying experience."
