facilities difficult for artists interested in traditional darkroom procedures. The exhibition is focused on works by artists devoted to the craft of producing their own images. These are not digitized images made by a machine, but instead laboriously produced fine art prints. The Bushwick Community Darkroom, located at 110 Troutman Street, Brooklyn, New York 11206, is a place for all who love the process of making photographic prints from negatives.

Lucia Rollow, founder/director of the Bushwick Community Darkroom says, "This event is a celebration of the perseverance and creativity of artists. It is also an invitation to welcome all those interested in the practice of photography to learn how to become a part of this growing community." Lucia Rollow added, "Providing opportunities for exhibition has been a core element of our model since day 1, and we are thrilled to be expanding offsite exhibitions with Jill Krutick Fine Art Gallery in winter 2021."
