This newest store highlights Mancini's Sleepworld's new SleepMatch system which measures thousands of data points per person and provides a color-coded result based on the consumer's sleep needs that correspond to the perfect mattress for them.

Marc Fey, the CEO, stated, "We see a lot of growth potential still in California, and can provide consumers the perfect answer to their lack of quality sleep through science with SleepMatch, rather than just a salesperson's opinion. We're rolling this system out to most of our stores and Livermore will be a flagship for the service."

Extensive social media promotions created a stir around the grand opening and giveaway alerts. Mancini's Sleepworld's other stores do exceedingly well on social review sites with high ratings for customer experience and quality of products.

"We couldn't have asked for a better experience. We're replacing a nearly 15-year-old mattress and got our SleepMatch color code to see which mattresses to choose from. It was a really easy and fun way to find the best mattresses for us." said one happy customer.

After the successful entry in Livermore, the brand is now looking forward to expanding in more locations in Northern California, consistently focusing on its mission to provide comfortable sleep.
