Market Restraints

In the packaging business, there are replacements that can simply replace laminated labels. Flexible packaging and pouches are packaging products that do not require additional labels to be applied to the packaged product. In addition, labels with varnish coatings are being utilised to achieve a high gloss surface, which is reducing demand for laminated labels.

Laminated label producers' profit margins have shrunk due to increased market rivalry. Because of the intense rivalry, major end-user sectors are offering their products at a low cost, resulting in limited profit margins for label makers. As a result, this has an impact on the manufacturer's total profitability, limiting market growth.
