“With so many checkboxes to tick in the transition from high school senior to incoming college student, we understand the stress students face,” says Dr. Jed Macosko, academic director of AcademicInfluence.com and professor of physics at Wake Forest University. “That’s why we’ve gone to great lengths to provide all-encompassing resources for students applying to college.”

Why can students and their families trust AcademicInfluence.com?

No other college ranking site has the InfluenceRanking™ Engine, innovative machine-learning technology that scours the web’s leading data repositories to map and measure the influence of a school’s thought leadership. Students can now access an objective, trustworthy ranking resource found at no other site.

In addition, AcademicInfluence.com hosts one of the most comprehensive directories of college admissions counselors available online. Students in need of help will find a professional near them who can assist with the admissions process, and they can connect to those professionals through the site.

“Most of all, AcademicInfluence.com differs from many college-focused sites because we’re insiders ourselves—professional educators, college professors, and admissions counselors,” says Macosko. “But we don’t stop with our own experiences. Because the admissions process is always in flux, we seek the latest information from other experienced insiders and analysts who can also help guide students on the path to success.”

AcademicInfluence.com is the preeminent technology-driven academic rankings site dedicated to students, researchers, and inquirers from high school through college and beyond, offering resources that connect learners to leaders. (Visit the AcademicInfluence.com About page for further details on the capabilities and advantages of this unique ranking technology and on the people who make it possible.) AcademicInfluence.com is a part of the EducationAccess group, a family of sites dedicated to lifelong learning and personal growth.
