SHELBY, NC, U.S. , December 10, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- C.A. Short's All-In Awards honor and recognize individuals and organizations who have put their "all in" to create and foster a culture of recognition.

An effective recognition program utilizes all available tools and resources to change behaviors. Program measurement, flexibility, and continuous communication are critical to driving program results.

"Recognition programs are more than an employee engagement platform. Recognition strategies and programs change behaviors and drive results by using quantitative and qualitative data," said Lauren Gagne, Director of Merchandising. "Our goal is to work collaboratively with our partners to design and implement programs that solve problems and change behaviors, ultimately moving the needle."

The All-In Award Winners were objectively chosen using C.A. Insights, C.A. Short's analytics tool, and program scorecard metrics.
