On Saturday, December 11, 2021, the Secretariat of the National Council of Resistance of Iran (NCRI) issued a statement regarding the nationwide teachers' protests in cities across Iran.

The full text of this statement is as follows:

(PMOI / MEK Iran) and (NCRI): The people's view is Only with the overthrow of this criminal regime and the establishment of democracy atrocities and injustices end . Teachers were chanting "Free the imprisoned teachers," "Full implementation of Ranking is our right ."

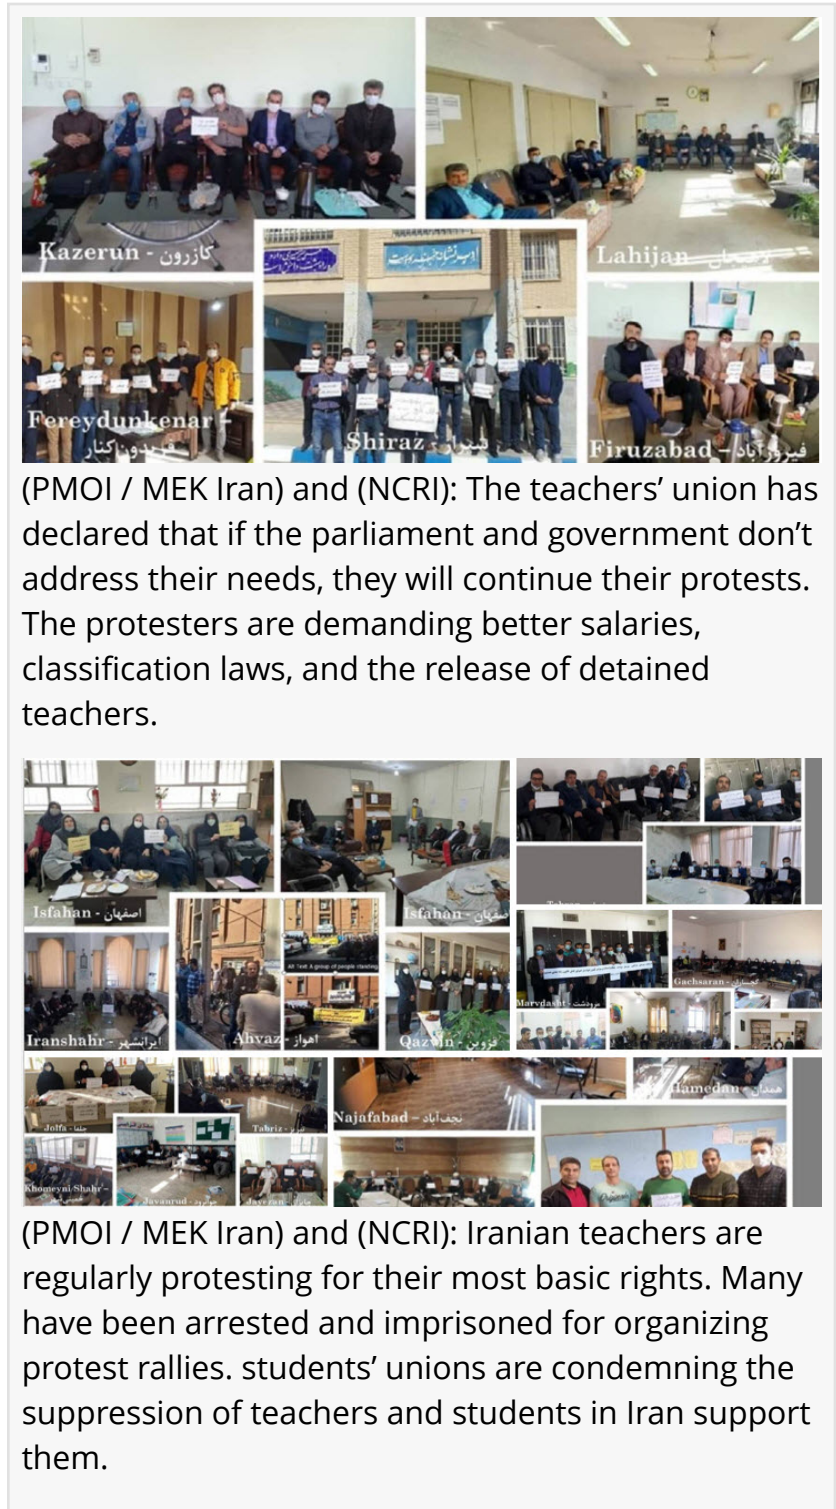

(PMOI / MEK Iran) and (NCRI): The Iranian Resistance and Mrs. Maryam Rajavi the president-elect of the (NCRI) hails the freedom-loving and arisen teachers and educators throughout the country and call on the people, especially students to support them in their struggle.

On Saturday morning, December 11, 2021, teachers and educators in 110 cities across Iran, in at least 30 provinces of the country, staged a sit-in to protest against the dire living conditions and low salaries. According to the teachers' call, these protest rallies will continue on Sunday and Monday, December 12 and 13. During their sit-in, the teachers held placards reading: "Teachers rise up to end discrimination," "Teachers' humiliation is equal to the nation's humiliation," "Strike, rally, unions are, our inalienable rights," "Full implementation of Ranking Act is our inalienable right," "Free the imprisoned teachers," "the teachers are vigilant, and hate discrimination."

The experience of the last four decades has proven that as long as the corrupt and criminal system of velayat-e-faqih is in power in Iran, poverty, corruption, high prices, injustice, and repression will intensify. Only with the overthrow of this criminal regime and the establishment of democracy will these atrocities end.

The Iranian Resistance and Mrs. Maryam Rajavi the president-elect of the (NCRI) hails the freedom-loving and arisen teachers and educators throughout the country and call on the people, especially students, to support them. It also urges all teachers, educators, and students' unions to condemn the discrimination and suppression of teachers and students in Iran and support their demands.

Iranian teachers held strikes in 110 cities and 30 provinces on Saturday and Sunday. The protesters are demanding better salaries, classification laws, and the release of detained teachers. The parliament recently approved a fraction of the budget teachers need. It is not nearly enough to address their needs.

Another bill that addresses the retired teachers' necessities has been constantly postponed by the parliament.

The teachers' union has declared that if the parliament and government don't address their needs, they will continue their protests.

Iranian teachers are regularly protesting for their most basic rights. Many have been arrested and imprisoned for organizing protest rallies.
