Dr. Angela Reddix, CEO & Founder, ARDX

Dr. Reddix highlights 15 years in business as the founder and CEO of ARDX, a successful government contracting consulting firm providing health and policy regulation services, big data analytics, technology solutions, cybersecurity risk management, and technology solutions. ARDX has had the opportunity to grow into a multi-million dollar brand that has helped shape communities.

owned, minority-owned small business. Our mission has always been to provide quality service along with a movement of hope and prosperity ad a commitment to giving back! My personal mission is to live a life of excellence and service that will leave an impact for generations to come.” - Dr. Angela Reddix, Founder, and CEO, ARDX.

This celebration of achievement would be incomplete without giving. In addition to internal celebrations and external activities like the ARDX Day of Giving, the ARDX team will donate 1,500 items to the YWCA of South Hampton Roads and volunteer time from the ARDX Associates to the YWCA. Dr. Reddix has developed many programs to achieve a significant personal goal to build 1,000 women's and girls' wealth to $1 Million, a value of $1 Billion. To become a Vision of Hope by leading this social change and providing the blueprint needed for girls around the country to transform themselves into business owners and CEOs through her non-profit Envision Lead Grow (ELG). As a result, Angela will devote her time to creating the next generation of girl entrepreneurs and leaders.
