The motorcycle accessories market will record an above-average 4.6% volume CAGR

during the forecast period, 2018 to 2026, according to a recently published Fact.MR report. Proliferation of aftermarket products is considered to be a boon for growth of the motorcycle accessories market, despite its consequential complexities for manufacturers, suppliers, and owners alike.

Varied approaches of OEMs with regard to installation of aftermarket motorcycle accessories, has been discouraging growth of the latter. However, key established players such as BMW Motorad and Harley Davidson have designed their motorcycles to uphold the culture of custom products by collaborating with aftermarket motorcycle accessories manufacturers.

Sensing the dynamically changing trends in the motorcycle accessories market, leading stakeholders continuously focus on developments in sought-after products, such as crash protection, lighting, and horns. The study projects revenues from crash protection to be over 1.5 times of lightings. High demand for crash protection motorcycle accessories rides the coattails of government and manufacturers' efforts to curtail incidence of on-road collisions, wherein motorcyclists are at a relatively greater risk.
