Inovar and Tamkeen Technologies together have delivered many successful digital transformation projects in Saudi Arabia. The companies are now embarking on a program to re-introduce Inovar's innovative solutions to the marketplace and to speed up the adoption of AI, after the work they have jointly done in digital transformation.

"Inovar has had the privilege of collaborating with Tamkeen Technologies over the last few years," said Arshad Syed, CEO, Inovar. "We are excited about broadening and strengthening this important relationship with Tamkeen but more excited about the opportunities that we see, to jointly serve our Customers in the Kingdom for many years to come in the fields of Telecom, Digital Transformation, and Artificial Intelligence."

"As the market and our technologies evolve, we will continue to maintain our core values: a passion for creating innovative solutions and a commitment of excellence to our customers," said Dr. Mohammad AlShaibi, CEO, Tamkeen Technologies. "Our goal is to partner with international companies that have access to state-of-the-art technologies with a strong local
