Sacumen, a fast-growing cybersecurity product engineering services company, announced today that it is positioned in the Execution Zone in the Zinnov Zones for ER&D Services – 2021 ratings. In addition, the company has also been recognized as an 'Emerging and Niche' player for overall ER&D services in the Zinnov Zones. Zinnov, a leading global management consulting and strategy advisory firm, in its annual Zinnov Zones for Engineering Research and Development (ER&D) Services ratings, has assessed 50 global ER&D Service Providers.

The feat comes as a big achievement for Sacumen, as it has earned this honour right on its debut in Zinnov Zones. Sacumen is a fast-emerging company in the Cybersecurity space and featured for the very first time to secure its place in areas such as Software Cybersecurity, Small and Medium Service Providers, and Enterprise Software.

Speaking about Sacumen, Sidhant Rastogi, Managing Partner, Zinnov, said, "Sacumen specializes in building

Sidhant Rastogi, Managing Partner, Zinnov: "Sacumen specializes in building connectors for security product companies. Their razor-sharp focus on working only with Cybersecurity product companies has translated into significant wins with big product companies including a Fortune Top 10 company. Its ability to work across the product development life cycle (PDL), covering Connectors development, new version development, Management Platform Development, etc., made Sacumen stand out in our ER&D Zinnov Zones assessment this year."

Nilesh Sinha, CEO & Founder, Sacumen: "We are proud to be ranked in the 'ExecutionZone' for Software Cybersecurity among top cybersecurity services providers in Zinnov Zones 2021 ER&D services assessment. This rating is testimony to our focused efforts in working with cybersecurity product companies in solving the problem of developing and supporting Connectors (aka Third Party Integrations) as well as Product Engineering."
