EINPresswire.com/ -- LAS VEGAS, NV., and NEW YORK CITY, 21 Dec. 2021 –

New tech brings into focus for journalists the mysteries of the universe, electronic lenses that transform the world of vision correction, and delivers a 21st century hot lunch – microwave or oven not required -- at ShowStoppers® at CES, the press event scheduled for 5 Jan. 2022 during the CES tradeshow in Las Vegas.

The ShowStoppers logo, with "Show" in white and "Stoppers" in a bold, orange, sans-serif font. A small registered trademark symbol (®) is visible to the right of "Stoppers".

Unistellar, <https://www.unistellaroptycs.com>, the company that is revolutionizing civilian access to deep space, will unveil its most advanced telescope, which has been honored with a CES 2022 Innovation Award and features pioneering eyepiece technology in partnership with the iconic optics brand Nikon.

Deep Optics, <https://www.deepoptics.com>, unveils its 32°N Sunglasses, <https://32northglasses.com/>, for the first time. Powered with patented dynamic Liquid Crystal lenses with no moving parts, switch from sunglasses to reading glasses in a single swipe. These glasses can dynamically change their focus, just like the human eye. Users can add their own reading prescription through the glasses app, making the glasses 100% personalized.

The lunchbox gets a 21st Century update. Who needs a microwave or oven? For travel and adventure, Steambox, <https://www.myheatbox.com>, is rechargeable, app-connected, and uses steam to heat food anywhere, anytime.

The ShowStoppers press event organizes product launches, sneak previews and hands-on demonstrations of new tech for work, home and play for journalists, industry and financial analysts, venture capitalists and business executives -- from AI to 5G to cloud, VR to digital health; to better, safer, healthier tools for working from home or going back to the office; to future mobility and autonomy, robotics or smart cities; to apps and hardware that drive mobile and desktop innovation; to wearables, IoT, appliances, entertainment, and more.
