Edamam’s Nutrition Analysis API offers real-time, highly accurate nutrition analysis of any recipe or ingredient list, leveraging a proprietary Natural Language Understanding technology for the food domain. The Recipe Search API allow complex and personalized search for meals from among 5 million recipes, all analyzed and tagged for every nutrient, allergen, and diet. The Food Database API offers lookup of nutrition data for close to 1 million grocery, restaurant, or common foods.

“In a platform like ours, aimed at pushing adoption of Digital Health innovations worldwide with the ultimate goal of impacting people's health, the technology that Edamam brings to our portfolio is absolutely fantastic. Nutritionists can now take advantage of Edamam's solutions in a much more efficient way, and we are extremely happy with this partnership. Edamam and Nubentos walk now together to improve people's health by improving the way we all eat and opening opportunities for new innovations,” explained Manuel Morales, Nubentos’ founder and CEO.

Edamam is aiming to make its partnership with Nubentos a test for other such channel partnerships with companies that have aligned missions.
