

New York Software Company Expands with Custom Healthcare Software Consulting

SandBox Union dives deeper into custom healthcare web and mobile application development, including diverse integration capabilities with EHRs.

ROCHESTER, NEW YORK, US, January 4, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SandBox Union (SBU) announces their new suite of custom software development and integration services, aptly named "Seraph."

Among SandBox Union's ranks of engineers and consultants lie many ex-pats from companies such as Accenture, Apple, and Deloitte. Some of those engineers have spent many years designing and developing robust patient-centered digital experiences and cutting-edge clinical information systems.

One of SandBox Union's core focus areas of the new Seraph service combines years of experience building enterprise analytics for the healthcare world c-suite and a massive integration play focusing on EHRs such as Netsmart and leveraging Microsoft's Azure for healthcare strategy.

We have always focused on building better businesses through better software, and a core part of that has always been in the healthcare world.”
