With EdisonLearnNow®, parents have access to a comprehensive course catalog, which includes core and honors classes in the following subjects: English language arts, foreign languages, math, science, and social studies. Also offered are elective courses in life skills—including identifying one’s individual strengths and abilities, using goal-setting to achieve their dreams, developing empathy and understanding, and learning how to apply problem-solving strategies—as well as career preparatory and technical education. Innovative career and technical skills courses include Drones: Remote Pilot Certification; Adobe Photoshop, InDesign, and Illustrator; Introduction to Education and Teaching; Entrepreneurship and Small Business; and many more.

“The challenges facing education today heighten the need for powerful solutions to improve students’ equitable access to a high-quality education, regardless of their life circumstances,

All courses are designed to be completed within a standard semester (15 weeks or approximately four months). However, actual completion time varies by student based on their unique pace.

In addition to the actual EdisonLearnNow® courses, parents can lean on qualified, accredited teachers and graders to support their learners. Students can receive on-demand help from expert learning coaches to support and assist them and their families who subscribe.

To help ensure that a student's learning experience is as successful as it can be, EdisonLearnNow® teachers and graders work to do the following:

- Grade and provide personalized feedback on all quizzes and exams within 48 hours
- Grade and provide personalized feedback on all projects, labs, writing assignments, and speaking assignments within 72 hours
- Respond to academic interventions and forum posts within 24 hours
