

Bell Lifestyle Products Announced Today Their New Liver Support Product for the Canadian Market

This flagship product contains NAC (N-acetylcysteine), Milk thistle extract, Turmeric, Dandelion and artichoke extracts.

MISSISSAUGA , ONTARIO , CANADA,
January 12, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ --
"We recognize the stress many have been under over the past year and the rise in the consumption of alcohol. We wanted to make sure we could provide a product that would support liver health under these stresses" said Tim Allen, General Manager.

"NAC is the star of this product. By combining these ingredients, you get great synergy of liver protectants not found in single ingredient products" stated Doug Carey, Marketing Director.

"This is not your standard liver formula". "We're always looking for products that can help support condition specific health issues, especially in men." Said Carey. "While the Liver Support product works for men and women, this condition is more prevalent in men".

Bell Lifestyle Products' Liver Support is available online direct at www.belllifestyleproducts.ca or at natural health retailers across Canada.
